BRAZIL'S NOTE

On President Cleveland's Message Read to Senate.

Full List of the Committees Read to the House on Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. The Vice-President laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of State, stating that the Brazilian Minister, acting under the instructions of his Government had informed him of the passage by both houses of the Brazilian Congress of the following motion:

"The Federal Senate of the United States of Brazil sends its greetings to the Senate of the United States of America upon the worthy message of President Cleveland, who so strenuously guards the dignity, the sovereignty and the freedom of the American nations."

The communication was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Lodge (Rep., Mass.) and agreed to, calling on the President for information whether exequaturs of the American Vice Consuls at Erzeroum and Harpoot have been withheld or refused by the Turkish Government while exequaturs to the Consuls of other nations at the same points have been given.

Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) offered a resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury, in pursuance of existing law, to coin as rapidly as possible the silver bullion in the Treasury purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, into standard silver dollars, and with such dollars to redeem, cancel and retire the Treasury notes of July 14, 1890, issued in the purchase of such bullion, and also to redeem the United States notes commonly called greenbacks in standard silver dollars as well as in gold, using whichever may be most abundant or convenient.

"Let it go over," interposed Mr. Platt (Rep., Conn.).

The resolution went over.

After a brief interval devoted to a private pension bill another resolution was offered by the Populist Senator from North Carolina (Mr. Butler) directing the Secretary of the Treasury to pay the interest and principal of the Government's coin obligations in gold, so long as gold and silver are on a parity, and in silver whenever silver is of less relative value than gold. He asked immediate consideration for it; but objection was again interposed by Mr. Platt (Rep., Conn.).

Mr. Squire's Fortification bill appropriating $87,000,000 was re-introduced by him with what he called "an emergency clause," making the amount "immediately available," and was referred; and then the Senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business.

The President's financial message of last evening was taken up in the Senate to give Mr. Stewart (Pop. Nevada,) an opportunity to speak upon it. He regretted, he said, that after the grand indorsement of the President's Monroe doctrine message he had placed himself on a lower level; and that he had been diverted from his grand purpose by proceedings on the other side of the Atlantic. The President had at his back the whole American people, but had been panic stricken and had appealed to Congress for aid.

In the course of Mr. Stewart's speech he declared that all the President had to do to sustain the Government credit was to pay the Government obligations in silver.

A speech on the same line was made by Mr. Dubois (Rep., Idaho) who asserted that authority would not be given to the President to issue bonds or to retire greenbacks.

Mr. Dubois also declared that the Senate, on its next legislative day, would adopt the Vest resolution, offered today, for the payment of coin obligations in silver.

At 1.50 the Senate adjourned till Tuesday next.

In the House.

After reading the journal in the House Executive Clerk Pruden was announced with the President's financial message sent yesterday to the Senate. Immediately thereafter a message was delivered from the Senate announcing the passage of the House bill appropriating $100,000 for the expenses of the proposed Venezuelan commission. The message from the President was laid before the House and read. The message was heard with respectful attention and with the close the Speaker stated that it would be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means and announced the composition of that committee.

This having been done, the full list of committees was read by the clerk. The reading was interrupted to receive another message from the Senate announcing the passage of the concurrent resolution providing for a holiday recess with amendment.

Mr. Dingley called up the adjournment resolution and on his motion it was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

At 12.55 o'clock the House adjourned until Monday.

PROMPT APPROVAL

Of Venezuela Commission Bill by President.

Stinging Denunciations of Cleveland in This and Other Lands.

Clergymen Demand His Impeachment, and Call His Act a Crime.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. The President this afternoon approved the bill appropriating $100,000 for the expenses of the commission to inquire into the Venezuelan boundary matter. The executive approval was given to the measure as soon as the official copy reached the President.

Secretary Olney and Secretary Herbert had a long conference with President Cleveland to-day about the present and probable future aspects of the Venezuelan situation. Mr. Olney and the President, it is understood, discussed the appointment of the Venezuelan commission authorized by Congress. Mr. Herbert's talk with the President related, it is understood, to the projected visit of Rear Admiral Bunce's squadron in the vicinity of the Venezuelan coast. It cannot be ascertained whether any change was made in the itinerary. Admiral Bunce will have an interview with Secretary Herbert to-morrow on the subject.

Cleveland Denounced by Boston Clergymen.

BOSTON, Dec. 22. A number of clergymen in this and adjacent cities today preached against President Cleveland's Venezuelan message. Rev. Justin D. Fulton, of Somerville, the well known anti-Romanist, declared that if Protestant instincts had ruled in Congress there would have been delay for a day or two, and this action would never have been taken.

Rev. J. D. Pickles, of the Tremont M. E. church, said Congress should resign, a new Congress elected and the President impeached.

Rev. Minot J. Savage, of the Church of the Unity, said if the message meant a bluff it was a disgrace; if it meant war, it was a crime.

Vicious Attack on Cleveland.

BERLIN, Dec. 21. The North German Gazette, ministerially inspired, makes a vicious attack upon President Cleveland's Venezuelan message. It declares that Cleveland has arrogated for the United States the supreme judgeship of all questions affecting the other States in the western hemisphere. "No European government," the article says, "disputes the high position or the form of government of the United States, but this new phase of spread-eagleism requires the attention of the European nations."

Since this article appeared the report has been circulated in ministerial circles that the Kaiser had told Prince Hohenlohe that he was determined to throw the influence of Germany upon the side of England.

No authentic information in regard to the Emperor's opinion can be obtained, of course, but the tone of the North German Gazette's article combined with the official resentment of the threatened commercial relations clearly indicates the probable attitude of the German government.

How Germans View the Financial Effect.

BERLIN, Dec. 22. Public interest in Berlin in the quarrel between the United States and Great Britain has never been highly strained and bids fair to become rapidly less, especially as regards the political aspect of the question. Financial anxiety is on the increase, and operations on the Bourse here and at Frankfort and Vienna Saturday showed a greater tendency to take the situation seriously. It is true nothing like a war panic prevailed, but the operators obviously got the impressions that the financial position must become much worse than it is, whatever may happen in relieving the political difficulty.

The selling of American stocks on the various German bourses proceeded actively, considering the number of bear orders reported to have been sent to London. The selling movement was largely confined to speculative dealings which seem calculated to eventually draw in genuine holders. The concurrence of the financial press in a general gloomy view of the monetary prospects of the United States, is giving a great deal of assistance to speculators. Responsible newspapers like the Zeitung predict a flow of gold from the United States.

English Express Aversion to War and Friendly Feeling.

LONDON, Dec. 22. Speaking at the City Temple to-day Rev. Joseph Parker, D. D., said: "Do not trouble yourselves with the thought of war. There will be no war. England and America cannot do without each other. War would be suicide. We send to-day messages from our hearts to our fellow christians in America. We must act in a spirit of magnanimity and concession. We miss Henry Ward Beecher. He could and would have spoken a word of conciliation. I call upon British and American christians to unite in prayerful counsel in the interests of peace."

The men's Sunday Union of workers in the east end of London, adopted a resolution sending a hearty Christmas greeting to their brother nation as an expression of the opinion that war would be unnatural, unchristian and should be forever impossible.

Italy Offers to Act as Arbitrator.

PARIS, Dec. 21. The Temps publishes a despatch from Rome saying that Italy has offered to act as arbitrator of the difficulty between Great Britain and the United States. Great Britain, the despatch adds, has not replied to the offer.

Russians Ready to go to War.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Dec. 22. John Glowa, president of the Russian Society of the United States, states that at a meeting of the officers of that association last evening it was resolved to lend all aid possible to President Cleveland in case the United States became involved in war with England. There are said to be over 200,000 members of the society in this country, many of whom are trained soldiers.

Cleveland's "Impudent Effrontery."

ROME, Dec. 22. The Popolo Romano, commenting on the financial effect of President Cleveland's message on the Venezuelan matter, says it is of the opinion that the common sense of the American people will punish the President's impudent effrontery.

German Denunciations.

BERLIN, Dec. 22. The Vossische Zeitung in an article referring to the financial panic in New York says: "The outcome is likely to prove to be President Cleveland's Waterloo. The economic position of America is bad enough now, what will it be in the event of war?"

The North German Gazette expresses the fear that it will take at least a decade for America to recover the confidence of the politicians and financiers of Germany.

Colombians Enthusiastic.

COLON, Dec. 22. There was a grand demonstration last night at a meeting in honor of the United States for its attitude in support of the Monroe doctrine. Many prominent Colombians and Venezuelans were present. Much enthusiasm was manifested and the United States, through the consul, was heartily commended for the action it had taken.

PLAN OF RELIEF

For the Financial Condition of Government.

An Outline of the Plan Proposed for Temporary Benefit.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. The following is stated on the best authority to be the plan of relief which will be discussed by the Ways and Means Committee during the Christmas recess, which, it is confidently expected, will be entered upon on Monday next.

The programme which the Republican leaders of the House have now tentatively in mind is to temporarily provide from 30 to 45 millions more revenue by some brief amendments of the tariff—not involving general tariff revision—these amendments to expire at the end of 30 months; and to give the Secretary of the Treasury authority to issue a 3 per cent. bond as a popular loan to maintain the coin redemption fund and for no other purpose, with a proviso that the redeemed greenbacks shall not be used to meet current expenses, but be retained so long as necessary as part of the redemption fund; to authorize national banks to issue circulating notes to the par of the bonds deposited as security, and to reduce the tax on national bank circulation; and to authorize the issue of certificates of indebtedness to meet the temporary deficiency of the revenue until the revenue can be provided.

What Will be Done in Congress This Week.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22. For the first time since the short session of the Forty-seventh Congress, in the winter of 1892-'3, Congress will enter the holiday week to-morrow with the intention of sitting through the season usually devoted to a recess. The occasion for this unusual zeal and devotion to public service was President's Cleveland's message of Friday, which asked Congress not to take the usual respite from labor at this season of the year, but to remain and provide the legislation necessary to relieve the financial situation of the government.

The House will enter upon this work promptly tomorrow through its committees announced Saturday. The Ways and Means Committee will meet at 11 o'clock and proceed as rapidly as may be with the consideration and preparation of a bill or bills to meet the condition which confronts it. The measure of relief it is expected the committee will propose will include, either in one bill or several, as may be deemed most expedient, brief amendments to the tariff law, not involving general tariff revision, such amendments to expire at the end of thirty months.

Also authority to the Secretary of the Treasury to issue a three per cent. bond as a popular loan, to maintain the gold reserve and for no other purpose, with a proviso that the redeemed greenbacks shall not be used to meet current expenses, but be retained as long as necessary as part of the redemption fund; authority to issue National banks circulating notes up to par of bonds deposited as security therefor, reduce the tax on national bank circulation, and authority to issue certificates of indebtedness to meet temporary deficiency of receipts until revenue can be provided.

It is estimated that the proposed tariff changes will add thirty to thirty-five millions to the income of the government.

Although there is some criticism of this scheme from the Republican side of the chamber, the proposition will receive the united support of the majority. One suggestion was that the Reed substitute for the issue of gold bonds, made in the last Congress when financial schemes were being considered, should be reported and passed.

While it is not probable that the committee will be ready to report to the House before Wednesday or Thursday, at the earliest, there will be no adjournment for more than a day or two at a time until proposed relief is enacted. Should this be accomplished this week the House will probably indulge in a three days' recess over the New Year holiday.

In the meantime the Committee on Banking and Currency will be at work on a bill to remodel the financial system of the country in the hope that it will be ready for a report to the House when sessions are regularly resumed in January.

Although the Senate will be nominally in session this week it is believed there will at no time be a quorum present. A financial debate may be precipitated Tuesday if Mr. Vest presses the resolution for which he asked immediate consideration Saturday. This resolution directs the Secretary of the Treasury to coin silver bullion in the treasury and apply silver dollars so coined to the redemption of treasury notes issued in payment for bullion under the Sherman act. If the Senate should be in a humor to permit the resolution to come to a vote it will surely pass, for the silver men are in the majority by at least a dozen, possibly 14 votes.

The resolution of Mr. Butler (Pop., N. C.) directing the Secretary of the Treasury to meet the obligations of the government with silver whenever that money is of less value than gold, is on the table and may be made the subject of a speech at any time.

It is likely the Senate will meet only at intervals, for as all legislation relating to finance and revenue must originate in the House and until some measure is sent over from the House there will be little occasion for the Senate to remain in session. Now that the holiday recess has fallen through the Republicans may urge the Democrats to at once fill the committee list.

There is little probability of this being done until the New Year is inaugurated.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. The representations made by Mr. Terrell respecting the conditions of American interests in Turkey have resulted in the dispatch of general instructions to Rear Admiral Selfridge at Smyrna, Sicily, requesting him to furnish all protection and comfort to such of the missionaries as might apply for that purpose. There is nothing in the instructions conceding a general gathering of American missionaries at Alexandretta or some other port where the United States has war ships.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. The Senate in executive session today confirmed the following nominations: Brig. Gen. Welgen Wesley Merritt, to be major general; Col. Zenas R. Also various other army promotions in the quartermaster general's, judge advocate general's, medical, engineer and cavalry departments; John L. Peak, Missouri, to be minister to Switzerland.

Meeting of Committees.

Immediately after the House adjourned calls were issued for the meeting of several of the more important committees, in order that the transactions of business might be begun at the earliest possible moment. Mr. Dingley had the Ways and Means Committee assemble at once for reorganization. This was affected by re-appointing the present clerks, who will hold over until Jan. 1, and the committee adjourned to meet Monday morning.

Mr. Walker on the Financial Situation.

Mr. Walker, of Massachusetts, chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, referring to the financial situation and the President's message today said: No financial system is workable by unskilled or alien hands. That ours was unscientific and expensive is certain, resting as it did wholly upon a prosperous condition of the treasury, viz: a considerable excess of revenue over expenditures.

The President is wholly responsible for its derangement in acts beginning in his first term and repeating during the present term. That it has not broken down of its own weight as originally arranged is proved by its successful working for thirty years. The reduction of the revenue considerably below the expenditures disarranged and finally practically upset the system. Public confidence in it being once destroyed can never be restored. Very nearly all the duties on imports were paid in gold up to 1892.

Now no gold is paid into the treasury and the custom of paying gold will never be restored. In his opinion, the President should be given the power at once to issue short time bonds. His last message had undoubtedly caused the decision to be made that a very large increase in the revenue by tariff legislation was necessary and must be made. Following this, and as soon as practical, the financial system should be re-organized.

immediately for the damage that dangerous washing compounds do. It's there, and it's going on all the time, but you won't see its effects, probably, for several months. It wouldn't do, you know, to have them too dangerous.

The best way is to take no risk. You needn't worry about damage to your clothes, if you keep to the original washing compound—Pearline; first made and fully proved. What can you gain by using the imitations of it? Prize packages, cheaper prices, or whatever may be urged for them, wouldn't pay you for one ruined garment.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 380 JAMES PYLE, New York.

RAM KATAHDIN REJECTED.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. The coast defense ram Katahdin, built by the Bath Iron Works, of Bath, Me., has been rejected by President Cleveland. This concludes executive action on the matter and the cost of the vessel will be a total loss to the contractors unless a congressional enactment in the case can be secured.

Gen. Hyde, the president of the Bath Iron Works, on hearing of the President's decision to-day, has taken time by the forelock and a bill, providing for the purchase of the Katahdin by the government, has already been introduced at his instance by Senator Hale, of Maine. The reasons that led to the rejection of the vessel are explained in the last annual report of the Secretary of the Navy.

WILL CONTINUE STRIKE.

Address to Public From Philadelphia Strikers.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21. This afternoon the strike leaders issued an address to the public in which they review the story of the attempts to settle their grievance and failure to do so. They ask the public not to patronize the street cars and say they are opposed to violence, but will push on the strike with renewed vigor until their demands are granted or arbitration is conceded.

No cars were run to-night on any of the divisions of the Union Traction Company. The resolution of the strikers to work this forenoon upon the receipt of an order from their executive committee was general but in every instance the respective superintendents declared that they had received no instructions to allow the men to go to work, and unless they should be so ordered the men could not resume their duties. It was not until late in the day that the strikers understood the situation.

Several disturbances occurred during the day in different sections of the city. A number of arrests were made and in each case the police quickly dispersed the crowd.

Invitations have been issued for a leap year party to be given at Society Hall Wednesday evening, January 1st, from 8 to 1. The committee is composed of Misses Grace Chapman, Maude Hayward, Anne Boutelle and Louise Pomroy.

House Committees.

Speaker Reed announced the House committees Saturday and although he was confronted by some difficult problems in connection with the question of seniority, the correspondents of the leading papers practically agree that his selections have given very general satisfaction both in and out of Congress. Especial interest has centered in the selection of the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee Mr Payne, of New York was the ranking Republican member in the last Congress and next to him came Mr Dalzell, of Pennsylvania Mr Dingley was a member of the committee in the last Republican House, and but for the fact that he relinquished his position in favor of Mr Reed in the last Democratic House, would have been the ranking member It will thus be seen that the Speaker had an embarrassing array of talent from which to make his selection, but in naming Mr Dingley he has placed at the head of the committee a member who is conceded to be the most thoroughly equipped tariff student in the House

With him he has associated as the Republican members of the committee Messrs Payne Dalzell Hopkins, of Illinois Grosvenor Ohio Russell, Connecticut Dolliver Iowa Steel Indiana, Johnson North Dakota, Evans Kentucky and Tawney, Minnesota The names of most of these members will be recognized for their long and valuable service in the House and constitute a guarantee that American interests will be carefully guarded in any legislation proposed Mr Boutelle again goes to the head of the Committee on Naval Affairs a selection conceded from the first, and Mr Milliken will be chairman of the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds a position he filled with much credit before

For Relief of Treasury

The opinion prevails in Washington that the Ways and Means Committee which has already organized, will consider and report to the House substantially the proposition made by Mr Reed in the last Congress for a popular currency loan accompanied with certain amendments to the existing tariff law that will provide from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 additional revenue said amendments to include a duty on wool and lumber which figure on the free list to-day

An Astonishing Message

The sanguinary editor of the Boston Journal seems to have lost his head entirely The financial message of the President sent to Congress Friday and which has been received with astonishment everywhere outside of the Journal office is characterized by the editor of the Journal as another clarion call right in the nick of time In another place in the same article he declares that the warlike message of the President was not the cause of the tempest which swept the stock market but the real responsibility for that was away back in the unsoundness of the country's financial condition

The unsoundness of the country's financial condition is not due to the causes assigned by the President but rather to the stupid legislation of the Democratic party accentuated by the disturbances growing out of the sudden and unexpected change of the Administration's policy Turning from the utterances of the excitable editor of the Journal to the comments of the better informed Washington correspondent of the same paper, we learn how the clarion call is regarded around the capitol We quote as follows

The message came like a thunderbolt from a clear sky There were few who had yet read the evening papers to learn the story of the day's events in New York, and a still less number who had received the intimation that any such step was contemplated by the President The message was read in executive session and was listened to with profound silence, but amid suppressed excitement Then the Senate without action or expression, adjourned, and the public a half hour later through the medium of extras, heard the news that the President had made this request of Congress

And when they read or listened to the message, they looked at one another in blank astonishment and silence as to what the next step should be When they examined it more closely they found themselves still more puzzled since by reading and re-reading they were unable to find that the President himself had recommended exactly or even in a general way what Congress should do

What can Congress do, or what does the President want it to do, if it remain here? That is what everybody is asking to-night The first impression was that he wanted it to authorize the issue of gold bearing bonds in order to get gold to restore the reserve and meet the demand which seems to have been precipitated by the events of the past few days But a moment's reflection shows that this is impossible A vote in the Senate to-day upon Senator Allen's free coinage resolution showed that that body is overwhelmingly for silver, and that gold bonds would stand no possible show of passage there Low rate bonds for a popular loan, worded as all bonds are, "Payable in coin," were suggested, but there was doubt whether these, if sold at home would bring much gold into the Treasury Small, short-time certificates of indebtedness, to be issued by the Treasury, were talked about, but these seemed no more likely to restore the stock of gold, which would probably be hoarded by the banks in view of the New York situation

Meantime there were sundry sharp criticisms of the President in the whole matter Senator Cullom said he did not know what the President wanted Congress to put out, but the one thing that the people would clearly want was the Democracy out of the White House and the Republicans in control there and in both branches of Congress. "Then," said he, "we should have no trouble about proper legislation to put money into the Treasury and restore things to a proper and normal condition. The President and Secretary Carlisle have only just told us that the Treasury is in good condition and needs nothing done to increase the revenue, and here comes a message asking that we even forgo the usual holiday recess for the very purpose of putting more money into it."

Representative Hitt read the message with astonishment, remarking that it did not seem to comport at all with the statement which the President and Secretary Carlisle made but a few days ago about having plenty of money and plenty of revenue.

The course of the President and those about him, in this matter, is the subject of much unfavorable comment. It is said that Speaker Reed called upon the President today with the purpose of consulting with him about the proposed adjournment and other matters of public importance, and received no intimation of the thunderbolt which was then being forged, and which descended upon the head of Congress some time later.

There are many strange stories afloat tonight regarding the developments of the past two days, one being that a member of the Cabinet, in conjunction with certain Wall street operators, made a cool million during the developments in the stock market by selling short on certain stocks. On the whole, the feeling is that the President has lost, in a few hours, all and more than all that he seemed to have gained 48 hours ago, and while Congress is willing to stand squarely behind him, as the head of the nation, in sustaining the finances, which have been shaken by the events of the past few days, the grave financial situation need not have been precipitated had more caution and less of alarming terms characterized the two messages of the week.

In this same connection it is interesting to quote the views of Congressman Walker, a member of the Massachusetts delegation, who says

I did not think the President's first or second message was justified under the circumstances. The financial and diplomatic conditions are those of his own creation. They are chargeable directly to the policy which the President has inaugurated. He has got the country into all the difficulties that exist, and now he throws the responsibility of rescuing it from himself upon Congress His message of to day is as unwise as it could possibly be, since in all financial operations the difficulties should be minimized and overcome instead of being magnified and proclaimed to the public Instead of making it easy for Congress to relieve the situation, he has increased its difficulties If the situation is as grave as he represents it to be, he should have called together a few leaders of both parties to argue its solution rather than proclaim it to the world. Congress should adjourn within a few days and give its members an opportunity to consult with their constituents

The President makes no recommendations, or suggestions, beyond a reiteration of his desire for a change in our financial system That such a change, even if deemed advisable, is impossible under existing conditions is recognized by everyone Coming as it does just at this time the message has the appearance of using the unfortunate conditions for which the President and his party are responsible as a means of forcing Congress to adopt his financial scheme. If such was the purpose it will doubtless prove a failure as the indications are that Congress will take cognizance of the existing ills in the Treasury Department by the passage of proper revenue legislation If the President wants to veto it then the responsibility will be upon his own shoulders

PUBLIC PLATFORM

Preferred by Lord Salisbury to Express Sentiments.

Press of London Continue Their Comments on Message.

New York, Dec 21 —A London special says Lord Salisbury, through his private secretary, Mr Barrington, stated to your correspondent today, Friday that he would probably take early occasion to express his personal sentiments towards the United States in some public address from the platform or a private dinner

Lord Salisbury made this statement in reply to the request of your correspondent for a message from him in his personal and unofficial capacity, freed from the restraints of official communication to the American people, expressing the general feeling of the British people toward them

Opinions of London Press

London, Dec 21 —The morning Post contends that events have shown that dislike and envy of England is deeply embedded in the popular feeling in the United States and suggests that it would be worth while to reflect whether a position that is regarded with such jealousy by a proud and successful nation is not worth making some sacrifices to maintain

The paper says that whatever the purpose for which Mr Olney has written it has aroused feelings which cannot be dispersed by any mere calculation of electioneering chances Public opinions may force Mr Cleveland to maintain his hostile attitude toward England All sober people see that persistence in the line adopted must lead to war

The Graphic suggests that it is possible to honorably settle the dispute by arbitration solely of the question as to whether the Monroe doctrine is applicable to the Venezuela question

The Daily News, basing its statement on its own reports from New York insists that there has been a [illegible] revulsion of feeling there owing to the panic in Wall street It contends that President Cleveland has inflicted a heavier injury on his own country than upon Great Britain by striking at the public credit just as it was recovering from the effects of the collapse caused by the Sherman act

Mr Cleveland," it says, "will find that no bond issue or withdrawal of notes is so effectual as the assurance of peace He must now be conscious of his mistake He will be able to some extent to regain it by replying to Lord Salisbury in a tone more befitting the head of a great nation than that adopted in his unhappy message

He will find the British government and people entirely disposed to forget his hot words and to help him repair the damage that they have done

The standard predicts that before many days there will be a striking revulsion of popular sentiment in the United States The American mind it says is clear and logical and Americans fully share with the British in what they both call love of fair play

It adds We feel confident that the vast majority of the Americans will soon be profusely sorry for what Mr Cleveland has done He has travestied and damaged a principle that they hold dear and has made the republic which we have all honored on account of its supposed attachment to peace and non intervention, figure in the eyes of Europe as a gratuitously aggressive and reckless champion of war

Englishmen are well aware of the difficulty many Americans must feel in reconciling patriotism with a frank disavowal of Mr Cleveland's attitude but we can join in all sincerity in the prayer offered by the chaplain of the Senate

London Dec 21 —The Economist in its financial article says Apart altogether from the Venezuelan business British investors do not take a sanguine outlook in America owing to the approach of the Presidential election and the critical condition of the United States currency It is impossible to say how long the depressing effects of the President's message in regard to Venezuela will last or how far they will spread but we are disposed to look for an early and perhaps a general recovery, especially as American investors are feeling the loss of market values most palpably that should be a powerful influence for peace

The Statist says President Cleveland's message will postpone recovery of the markets which seemed to be impending when the document was launched

The Globe says The financial kings of the old world are firmly resolved that such a horror as war between England and the United States shall not occur and they will not hesitate any means to prevent it Our great banks are insisting upon the immediate payment of advances made to American houses at the same time intimating that they will suspend financial accommodations so long as the menace of an American commission to locate the boundary of British Guiana hangs in the air

The Westminster Gazette says President Cleveland's second special message to the Congress of the United States greatly improves the situation The President's enemies the Gazette says though stalwart for the application of the Monroe doctrine will not scruple to attack his currency policy We hope that our government will seize the occasion to make it clear that we do not intend to challenge the Monroe doctrine or to raise that issue

The Pall Mall Gazette says even if Venezuela were 10,000 times right it would be impossible for Great Britain to recognize her rights or even make the slightest concession to her until President Cleveland withdraws from his menacing attitude

The sole service which his message has done to the Monroe doctrine is to call forth a chorus of disavowal and ridicule from the whole of Europe

'We Shall Not Yield an Inch'

Brussels Dec 21 —The Soir publishes an interview with Mr W K Vanderbilt who, according to that paper said We shall not yield an inch we shall begin closing our ports against England I have private telegrams announcing the convocation of a Congress of delegates from all the American republics this congress will effect the late Mr Blaine's prospect for a Customs Union"

Referring to England's Navy Mr Vanderbilt exported the palm of his hand and said "In a month from the declaration of war the entire ocean will be as clear as that of British ships President Cleveland would never have thrown the gauntlet down unless he had been prepared for every eventuality Hands off," he concluded, "is America's cry to Great Britain"

Czarewitch Bore Journey Well

Nice, Dec 21 —The Czarewitch, who is suffering from consumption, has arrived here He bore the journey from Russia better than was expected He sailed from a Black sea port on a Russian war ship the Sultan of Turkey giving his permission for the vessel to pass through the Dardanelles

Spree Hard and Fast on the Rocks.

London, Dec 21.—The North German Lloyd steamer Spree which went ashore on Warden Ledge Isle of Wight, Thursday morning, is still hard and fast upon the rocks

Throughout last night the vessel was being unloaded with a view of lightening her but no attempt was made to float her A number of additional tugs arrived on the scene last night and this morning and it is expected that she will be towed off at high water tide this afternoon

The Spree's steerage passengers are still on board and will not be taken off until the ship is floated.

Rapid and Violent Fluctuations in London Market.

London, Dec. 21 —The stock exchange market opened panicky. American railroad stocks were demoralized notwithstanding the fact that in the first hours of the session the prices were better than they were at the close of the market yesterday afternoon

The fluctuations were rapid and sometimes violent. Many stocks were unsalable. The stock exchange brokers profess to be wholly uncertain as to the outcome of events and are very cautious.

At this hour, 1.15 p. m., the stock market is very unsettled and the dealings in American railroad securities are entirely nominal.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

Held at the Methodist Church Sunday Evening.

Sunday was observed as Christmas Sunday in some of the Brewer churches and all the services were fitting to the occasion. In the morning the sermons of the pastors were on appropriate topics and in the evening concerts were to be given by two Sunday schools, but that at the First Congregational church was postponed to next Sunday evening.

At the First M. E. church the decorations were very handsome for the evening Sunday school concert. The programme, which was arranged by a committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Higgins, Mrs. Oliver J. Kendall and Mrs. Austin Abbott, was a very fine one and the numbers were excellently given by the participants. It was as follows:

Organ voluntary, Miss Currier; solo, Mr. Gordon; prayer, Rev. J. T. Crosby; anthem, choir; scripture reading, superintendent; solo, Miss Vira Clish; address of welcome, Miss Ethel Higgins; dialogue, "What Christ Brought us," five children; reading, Miss Gertrude Veazie; solo, Miss Henry; exercise, three girls; reading, Miss Edna Smith; duet, Isa Hardy and Hildreth Kendall; recitation, Isa Hardy; solo, Mr. Putnam; exercise, five girls; address, pastor; solo, Miss Ethel Boden; collection; anthem, choir; benediction.

The full intensity of living is reached only by the perfectly healthy. Sickness discounts the capacity for enjoyment. When a piano is badly out of tune, the noises that come from it are certainly not musical. They are not beautiful. If it is only a little bit out of tune, you can play some few things on it. You can create a semblance of music, but you cannot make really beautiful, satisfying, soul-stirring music, unless every string is tense and firm, unless every piece of the whole instrument is in perfect tune, in perfect condition, in perfect harmony with every other piece.

It is the same with a human being. If his body is all out of order and run-down, he will not be able to enjoy anything, no matter how full of enjoyment it may be for other people. If he is just a little bit out of order, if he "is not sick, but doesn't feel just right" he will only be able to enjoy things in a half-hearted sort of way. The nearer he is to being perfectly well, the nearer will his capacity for enjoyment be perfect. To really live, and to take his part in the work and pleasure of the world, his body must be in perfect condition. If this condition doesn't exist, something is wrong and something ought to be done. That something, nine cases in ten means the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It works directly on the digestive organs, and on the blood and through these on every tissue of the whole body. It makes the appetite good, the digestion perfect and nutrition rapid and easy. It supplies rich, red blood to all the tissues and builds up solid, healthful flesh. It brings perfect health and restores vigorous, springy vitality. It makes every function in life a pleasure instead of a drag. It is an invigorating tonic as well as the greatest blood-purifier of the age. You can get it at any drug store. If you care to know more about it, and about your own physical make-up, send 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only and receive absolutely free a copy of Dr. Pierce's celebrated book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser"—1008 pages, profusely illustrated. SINGULAR ACCIDENT

On Boston and Albany Railroad Near Cottage Farm Station.

BOSTON, Dec. 21. A singular accident occurred this morning about 8.30 on a train of the Boston and Albany railroad near Cottage Farm Station, as a result of the heavy fog. The passengers on a train which reached the station at the time mentioned, thought from what was said by trainmen or others that another train was coming upon them from the rear and some one called out "jump."

One of the passengers, Percy B. Rolfe, heard the call and jumped through the window, and in doing so cut his left wrist so badly that Dr. Galvin at the Emergency Hospital was obliged to amputate the arm between the wrist and elbow. Mr. Rolfe, who is forty-one years old, lives in Portland, Me., and is in the employ of Strawbridge & Clothier, wholesale dry goods dealers in Philadelphia.

STOCKWELL,

The Murderer, Arrives at Concord. N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 21. Stockwell, who was sentenced to prison for thirty years for the murder of Sergeant McAllister, of the Manchester police, arrived here on the 1.30 train this afternoon.

PHILADELPHIA STRIKE.

Statement as to Basis upon which Men will be Taken Back.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21. The street car strikers at two o'clock this morning were notified that a compromise with the officials of the Union Traction Company had been reached and all the men were told to return to work this morning.

This conclusion of the strike leaders and those who were working to bring about a peaceful settlement of the trouble was a serious mistake. The Traction Company officials deny that they have reached any agreement. J. Lowber Welch, President of the Union Traction Company, at 3.30 o'clock this morning, sent to the city authorities the following statement as to the basis upon which the men will be taken back:

We will take back all the men that we can use. We have something like one thousand we must keep. We will cancel all our contracts outside of the city not actually filled, settling with those men. We will give to the 1,000 men we can't now take back a chance for employment ahead of strangers, provided they are efficient and of good character. Forty-five hundred men are on the strike. We can take back 3,500 of the 4,500 to-day.

Cars Bombarded with Bricks and Rocks, Windows Smashed and Motormen Wounded.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21. An attack was made by a crowd of 150 men and boys this morning on the cars that were sent out from the Lancaster avenue depot of the Union Traction Company in West Philadelphia. A score of the cars were bombarded with bricks and rocks. The windows were smashed, several of the conductors and motormen were wounded, and the outbreak assumed an aspect of grave character. The police reached the scene some little time after the mob's violence was well under way. There were few passengers in the cars at the time. The motormen and conductors found their only safety in speeding their cars towards the centre of the city, for the few policemen guarding them could not afford sufficient protection.

ENGINE ON BANGOR EXPRESS

BOSTON, Dec. 21. The inward bound Bangor express came in a little late this morning and was switched by the men in the tower on track 13. It happened that there was a string of eighty cars standing on the track and a shifter was just hitching on to them to haul them out of the station when the express rolled in. The express engine was going slowly but it struck the shifter head on and the force of the impact was sufficient to punch a hole in the shifter's water tank and otherwise damage the smaller engine.

Cumberland.

When they took off the hatches of the trans-Atlantic liner Mongolian, which arrived in Portland Thursday, a most piteous object appeared—the steamer's cat. It was hardly more than the frame of a cat that crawled out, as it had been for fourteen days without food or water. Hot milk was administered, and at last accounts puss bade fair to come up again, but it must have been a fearful trip for the feline faster.

Some anxiety is felt at Westbrook regarding the whereabouts of Tony Clark, the Band Master. About three months since he left this city. No word has been received since his departure, under peculiar circumstances. Saturday, August 24, at 10 P. M., was the last time he was seen, when he took the electric cars for Portland. He had a small wooden box with him. He left his room in a tidy condition as usual. He left most of his clothing in his room. He was somewhat inclined towards intoxicating liquors. He was the founder and leader of the Tony Clark's famous juvenile band, also the founder of the Presumpscot Band. He was a successful musician. He had been there about five years. He has travelled extensively with circuses, theatres, and musical companies. He has no relatives that are known. His creditors are inquiring for him. He was a quiet, peaceable man, when not intoxicated.

Hancock.

An important matter now being considered is the purchase by Ellsworth business men of a boat to be used for freights and for towing. A freight from Ellsworth to connect with the Bluehill boat at Surry would give the city a freight route by water to Boston, and result in cheaper freights.

Knox.

Mrs. C. C. Atkins, aged twenty-six, wife of a well-to-do carriage maker of Rockland, committed suicide Friday afternoon at her home on Lisle street. She was found in her bedroom with a cloth saturated with chloroform over her face and a gash cut in her throat. She is supposed to have been temporarily insane. She had been a partial invalid for several years. The coroner decided an inquest unnecessary.

The senior class of the Rockland high school discussed "Woman Suffrage" the other day, and one of the young ladies who argued on the negative is reported to have said: "If a woman isn't smart enough to control a man's vote, she isn't smart enough to be allowed to vote herself."

Piscataquis.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Stevens at Dover South Mills have several ancient articles in their possession which are highly prized. Mrs. Stevens has a school slate which her grandfater bought in 1816 and which has been used by children of succeeding generations. The frame resembles those used to-day, but the slate is of a purplish hue and unlike the slate with which we are familiar. It might be interesting to know where this slate was quarried. Mr. Stevens, who is a G. A. R. man, has a Confederate cavalry jacket of homespun made by Southern women. Several of the original buttons yet remain. He has also a stone cup of blue tint, which he received from a negro woman in exchange for coffee and hardtack. He has also a flint lock pistol, of large and heavy pattern, which was carried by Gen. Isaac Hodgdon in 1838.

One town's record of Christmas tree shipments gives a clue to the extent of this industry in Maine. At Dover, thirty-two cars, averaging 450 trees each, have been loaded for Philadelphia, leaving $3,412.96 in that town and paying the M. C. railroad $704.00 freight.

Washington.

It is said that the DeGrasse family lawyer, who is looking after their interest in the thirty-two-million dollar estate in France, has written them to the effect that there is no doubt about their being the direct descendants of the Count DeGrasse and heirs to the immense fortune awaiting claimants.

Luther Green, of Lubec, met with an accident in Eastport, Wednesday evening, which came very near proving fatal. He came here Wednesday morning with a load of baled hay on his sloop and unloaded at Milliken's wharf. After unloading he went up in the city to visit some friends and when he returned to the wharf to board his vessel, missed his footing and fell in the dock, a distance of twenty-five feet. He was picked up and taken to the station and Dr. H. V. Jonah attended him. No bones were broken but it is feared he may be injured internally.

Harry Hall was arrested at Nashua, N. H., last week, for stealing bicycles in the vicinity of Portsmouth. He claims Wells Beach as his home, and is wanted by Portsmouth officers for stealing a bicycle in Kittery. He was taken to Portsmouth, Saturday.

Telegraphic Notes.

The finding of Judge Wheeler in the suit of Dr. Austin B. Fuller and others of New Haven against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York, filed in the Supreme Court is that the plaintiffs instituted litigation in behalf of forty-two policy holders who claimed they were being defrauded by the company's officers, who were not living up to the agreement in reference to the reserve fund clause under which the policies were issued. Something like $200,000 were involved in the decision which was in favor of the plaintiffs. The case goes to the Supreme Court.

Judge Albion W. Tourgee delivered an eloquent eulogy on the late Frederick Douglass in Faneuil Hall, Boston, Friday evening, the memorial services being held under the auspices of the Boston city government. Alderman Horace G. Allen presided. There was a large audience, composed largely of colored people, while members of the government and invited guests occupied seats on the platform. After Judge Tourgee's address, Prof. Richard T. Greener gave personal reminiscences of Mr. Douglass.

Schooner Orient, for which anxiety was felt, arrived at Gloucester, Mass., Friday night, somewhat damaged, from Bay Island, N. F., after an extremely hard passage.

CITY AND VICINITY.

The High School foot ball team will elect a captain next term. The team loses several of its best players by graduation next June, but has some good material on hand to fill the places.

Mr. Walter N. Hellenbrand, of Oldtown, is running as American Express agent between Bangor and Bar Harbor for a short time, taking the place of the regular messenger on that run who is sick.

Archie Richards, who has been employed at the lumber camps of the Jordan Lumber Co., at Katahdin Iron Works, came from there Friday to Oldtown with his feet split open. While chopping a tree his axe slipped and struck his foot, making a bad wound.

An interesting programme has been provided and ice cream and cake will be served. Members of the school can secure refreshment tickets from their teachers at the vestries on the evening of the entertainment.

Miss C. T. Crosby, "Fly Rod," of Phillips, left the city Saturday on her return. She is much pleased over the prospect for the success of the Maine exhibit at the great Sportsman's Exposition in Madison Square Garden next March. Miss Crosby, who is in charge of the Maine exhibit, proposes to make that the center of the entire exposition. She will take on to New York $3,000 worth of the birds and animals from Sumner L. Crosby's collection in this city, and six guides, two from Rangeley and one apiece from Moosehead, Dead River, Penobscot and Aroostook. The famous Joe Francis will probably be included in the list of notable woodsmen, for Miss Crosby's agents are now in communication with him to that end. While in Bangor Miss Crosby interviewed General Manager Cram of the Bangor and Aroostook railroad and she says he was enthusiastic over the attempts to make the Maine exhibit the feature of the show.

Christmas Dinners.

Do not forget to send your donations to-day for these dinners. You will enjoy your own doubly if it is sweetened by the thought of less favored homes made glad by your gifts.

The committee will be at the parlors of the First Baptist church to-day to receive your donations. To-morrow they begin the distribution of them. They will need all you can spare of food, cooked and uncooked, vegetables, meats, groceries, anything good to eat. They believe you will be generous in your gifts that they may be generous in distributing them. Money is greatly desired.

"THE THIRD MAINE."

Evidence Shows Plucky Fight Made by This Famous Regiment.

The following letter will be of interest to veterans, and especially so to the surviving members of the 3d Maine Regiment:

"State of Maine, Adjutant General's Office, Augusta, Dec. 16, 1895. Dear Sir: In answer to your inquiry of the 14th inst., I regret to say that your statement that Maine troops lost no flag is not according to the record. Col. Moses B. Lakeman, 3d Maine, in his report of the battle of Gettysburg, which you will find in the 'Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies,' Series I, Vol. XXVII, Part I, page 507, has the following:

"'I regret to report the loss of my national colors, for no man ever fought harder for it, that day, than did my regiment, but Capt. Keene of the color company, and his first and only lieutenant, Henry Penniman, fell, the former pierced by four bullets, the latter severely wounded in the leg. The color bearer fell wounded; two of the guard were killed, and four others seriously wounded, and as darkness was fast approaching, I did not miss it until the following morning. If I had, they would have had me, and my little squad, or I would have had my flag.

"'As soon as I could rally the remains of my shattered regiment, I joined the brigade, and the men lay on their arms during the night.

"'I am proud to say the conduct of my officers and men throughout the entire day is deserving the highest praise. Their coolness and courage in resisting a force which they could plainly see was four times their number, I cannot lightly pass over, but feel somewhat recompensed for my loss by the knowledge that the few I have left are of the same material as the gallant spirits that have fallen.

"'I entered the engagement of the morning with 14 officers, and 196 rifles, and lost during the day, 118 killed, wounded, and missing, including Major Lee, wounded, Captain Keene, killed, etc., a list which had already been sent to headquarters.'"

The letter further continues: See also "Official Records," Series I.

"Vol. XVX, page 802, report of Gen. Heth, C. S. A., and page 915, report of Gen. Jas. H. Lane, C. S. A., and page 920, report of Col. Samuel D. Lowe, 28th North Carolina, C. S. A., reporting the capture of the 'flag,' 'colors,' 'standard,' of the 3d Maine at Chancellorsville.

"Col. Lakeman, 3d Maine, in his report of Chancellorsville, makes no mention of the loss of a flag or color. The rebel reports do not show whether regimental or the national color was captured.

"It appears therefore that the 3d Maine lost a national color at Gettysburg, and a color of some sort at Chancellorsville. The latter may have been only a 'marker.'

"The 3d Maine seems thus to have a bad eminence. The loss of a color by a regiment indicates, however, that it stuck to its post to the last extremity, instead of seeking safety for itself and colors, while safety was to be found. Nobody who knows anything about the 3d Maine at Gettysburg will for a moment insinuate that there was any 'leaches' on the part of that regiment. Its great loss on that field proves that the color was not easily captured.

"Of the Third at Chancellorsville, Gen. Ward, Brig. Commander, in his report, 'Official Records,' Series I, Vol. XXV, page 428, says of the old regiments of this brigade, the 3d and 4th Maine, it would be almost useless to make any additional remarks to the commander of this division. Their reputation is so well established in so many well fought fields, as to preclude the possibility of saying more in their praise.'

"J. B. Kershaw, Col. 2d S. C. Vols. C. S. A., in his report of Bull Run which you will find in 'Official Records,' Series I, Vol. II, page 522 (the extract is on page 527) says, 'among the trophies taken by my regiment was the flag of the First Regiment, Second Brigade, fourth division, of the State of Maine, with its proud motto "Dirigo," and a small federal ensign.' The description indicates that the regiment, brigade, &c., were inscribed on the flag.'

"Discussing the matter with Capt. Clark, my clerk, he said, 'O, that reminds me,' and thereupon produced an old color about twenty inches square, which the late J. H. Cochrane brought here once. It has a shield, bearing the pine tree and reclining moose-deer, surmounted by a star, and a scroll inscribed 'Dirigo,' and underneath the word 'Maine,' and a scroll at the bottom with the words 'regiment,' 'brigade' and 'Division' painted on it, spaces for the numbers being left blank. It is evidently an old militia color or marker, and it is very evident that the color captured by Kershaw was one of that style. The description of the division, etc., makes it seem probable that the captured color belonged to the Fourth Maine, or some company of that regiment, but it is by no means certain.

"The flag of the 19th Maine, I have been personally informed, was torn up and distributed among the regiment at Gettysburg, when it was evident that the regiment would be captured.

"The foregoing is all the information I can give you at present upon the subject of your inquiry.

(Signed,) SELDEN CONNOR,
Adjutant General."

Mrs. Campbell Wishes Her Letter Published so that the Truth May Be Known.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Of the thousands of letters received from women all over the world by Mrs. Pinkham, not one is given to the public unless by the wish of the writer. Thus absolute confidence is established between Mrs. Pinkham and her army of patients; and she freely solicits a letter from any woman, rich or poor, who is in ill health or ailing.

In the case of Mary E. Campbell, of Albion, Noble Co., Ind., her suffering was so severe, her relief so suddenly realized, and her gratitude so great, that she wishes the circumstances published, in the hope that others may be benefited thereby. She says:—

"My physician told me I had dropsy and falling of the womb. My stomach and bowels were so bloated I could not get a full breath. My face and hands were bloated badly. I had that dreadful bearing-down pain, backache, palpitation of the heart, and nervousness.

"One of my physicians told me I had something growing in my stomach; and the medicine that I took gave me relief only for a short time. I thought I must die. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it worked like a charm. After taking the first bottle I could walk across the street, now I am well. I advise all my friends to take it."—MARY E. CAMPBELL, Albion, Noble Co.

A heavy fog hung over the city Saturday very much London, don' cher know. The street cars had to run slowly in order to make safe trips, teams could not be driven rapidly without danger of collision and pedestrians had to scrutinize each other carefully as they passed in order to recognize their best friends.

Thieves entered the stable of Frank Barrows on Essex street last week and stole two double harnesses and two single harnesses. The case has been placed in the hands of Detective Harriman.

Any one looking into the vestry of the Hammond street church Saturday afternoon would have been rewarded by a very pretty sight, for there were all the little members of the Junior Endeavor Society busily engaged in preparing Christmas pleasures for others. Some were making scrap books to be sent to the hospital, where they will gladden many a weary hour for the little patients, and others were filling Christmas stockings for children less fortunate than themselves. Surely it is a beautiful thing that these little ones are taught so early in life—the secret of a great happiness—that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

General Manager F. W. Cram, of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad, was at home Saturday from the Ashland branch of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad and returned to Ashland in the afternoon. It will take ten more days to finish the details. The side tracks, turn tables, water tanks, etc., are all built and the road is ballasted to within ten miles of Ashland. A big crew of men are at work and are ballasting a mile per day. Yesterday General Manager Cram and Superintendent Rogers, of the B. & A. division, went over the branch line in a special train. The Aroostook Construction Company will begin operating the line on December 26 and the B. & A. company will formally take it January 1st. The Railroad Commissioners will go over the branch a week from today.

Breakdown and Runaway.

Saturday afternoon Charles Cary was driving on Main street, leading two horses, and when near Wood & Bishop's foundry a car came along and the led horses began to plunge. Finally they jumped upon the rear wheel of the carriage, breaking it down. The carriage fell over to one side and Mr. Cary was thrown out in the mud but fortunately received no injuries. The horses and man were mixed up together for a short time but the three animals soon freed themselves and started off on the run down the street. The horse which had been attached to the carriage turned around and ran up toward the city with the front wheels in tow. In front of the Bangor House he collided with a hack and leaving the wheels ran down towards West Market square. He was afterwards captured and returned to the owner, who also secured the led horses.

There was a rumor in circulation yesterday to the effect that there had been an accident of the Bangor & Aroostook railroad at Oldtown Saturday night, but it proved to have no foundation whatever. It probably grew out of the fact that a Maine Central wrecking car was sent to Oldtown Saturday night to put back upon the rails a freight car which went off the track without doing any damage, in the Oldtown yard.

POPULAR YOUNG MAN DEAD.
Mr. Percy F. Lawrence Passes Away Saturday Morning.

In the death of Mr. Percy F. Lawrence, which occurred Saturday morning at 8.30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth L. Gallupe, on Hammond street, Bangor loses a young man of the brightest promise, who, if he had lived, would have still further honored himself and his native city by the position in the world he would have taken.

The cause of his death dates back to the late summer of a year ago. While on a hunting trip in the Mt. Katahdin region with a friend, in descending the mountain one day he stepped into a hole in the ground and strained his knee. The injury was not regarded as dangerous but it was aggravated later in Boston by a fall from a street car.

Soon his knee began to assume a serious condition and it was decided that amputation would be necessary. Mr. Lawrence was accordingly taken to a hospital in Boston and the amputation was successfully performed by some of the best surgeons in the country, but as it turned out the poisonous matter of a cancerous nature from the knee had spread further into his system and the necessary operation afforded but temporary relief.

He gradually recovered and returned to his home in this city last summer, appearing to be in good health and excellent spirits. He received a warm welcome from his many friends who were glad to see him looking so well after the very trying experience through which he had passed.

He passed the summer in this city and vicinity and then returned to Boston to resume his studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. At the end of two weeks he became ill from the spread of the cancerous matter to his lungs and went to the residence of a friend of the family in Milton, Mass., where he received medical treatment.

Several weeks ago he was brought to Bangor and taken to the residence of Mrs. Gallupe where he passed away, sarcoma being the cause of his death.

Mr. Lawrence was born in this city at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. S. Lawrence, on Center street, on January 10th, 1876, and was consequently nearly twenty years of age. He received his education in the public schools and was graduated from the High School in the class of 1892.

He took a post-graduate course at the High School in preparation for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and entered that well known institution in the fall of 1893. He was especially interested in chemical and mechanical studies and devoted a large measure of his time to them, at the same time pursuing his other educational lines with characteristic zeal and ability.

Both in the public schools and the Institute he was notable for his marked ability, his mind being active in grasping ideas and his memory retentive, and an earnestness of application in whatever he undertook. Bright in conversation, genial and courteous in manner, of very pleasing personal appearance and possessed of a high character, it is no wonder that he commanded the greatest esteem and admiration wherever he went. It is very rare, indeed, to find so young a man who is held in such high regard by both old and young and who was so widely known.

His death occasions a shock and a feeling of great loss to a host of friends in this city and elsewhere.

Mr. Lawrence's mother died when he was a child and he had always lived with his father, W. H. S. Lawrence, Esq., cashier of the Kenduskeag National Bank, who will have the deep sympathy of the community upon his great bereavement.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of Col. A. B. Farnham, No. 13 Second street.

Death of Col. H. L. Hart.

Many Bangor and Maine people have known Col. Hubbard L. Hart, of Palatka, Fla., known as the "Orange King," and will regret to learn of his death. The funeral of Col. Hart, who was killed on the 11th instant by a street car accident in Atlanta, occurred on Tuesday last. It was more largely attended than any previous occasion of the kind in Palatka, nearly the whole population of the city, both white and colored, including many friends and relatives from the North, being present as mourners. The embalmed remains lay in state in the family mansion five days before burial and the nearly constant stream of visitors attested their deep regard.

The deceased was one of the most widely known men, and for his uniform kindness to those in need, genial manners and retiring disposition, his friends in the whole country are very numerous. He was born in Vermont and married for his second wife a Miss Thomoson, of Boston, who is a relative of Hon. Arad Thompson, of this city. Col. and Mrs. Hart have visited in Bangor several times. His residence and office in summer for ten years have been in Boston. He was extensively interested in property in Florida and owned and operated steamboat lines on the Ocklawaha river. He was a brave, able and generous man. He had been repeatedly urged to be a candidate for Governor but always refused.

If old people are forgetful, they always remember to use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

The market is full of cough mixtures, but one trouble with most of them is that when they do a little good the patient has to take so much that he gets to loathe the taste. The Pineola Balsam is superior to other cough remedies because it is agreeable to the palate and its good effects are immediate. In a few days an ordinary cough is gone altogether. Bronchitis and asthma are more stubborn, but they too are cured by Ely's Pineola Balsam. A remedy worth trying. Twenty-five cents is all it costs.
